After a bit of a delay, Moa 1.2.5 is here!

Only a few new features but some good bugfixes.

The main new bit is that the templates header can now have a custom title and/or byline so you don't have to have your gallery branded with the Moa or aperture logos. We also added a little bit on the image view page to show which other galleries and/or tags this image is associated with.

As a bonus we've put in the new blue variant of the default template. Rich says he will work on a dark version of it as well for next time.

So what are you waiting for? Download it via the big red link up in the header!
